

ChemPoint Selects PayService.Com ExpenseVisor

Easily deployed, affordable T&E solution chosen to replace proprietary system

Charlotte, NC, January 5, 2004 - PayService.Com, a rapidly emerging provider of Expense Management Automation (EMA) solutions, announced today that ChemPoint, an e-distributor of chemical products and services, has deployed ExpenseVisor to automate their travel and entertainment (T&E) expense management process.

PayService.Com's low-cost, highly flexible, hosted T&E expense management solution reduces costs, increases efficiency, provides insights on corporate spending habits and delivers rapid ROI.

"ChemPoint is the latest example of companies that value the operational efficiencies and reduced costs delivered by ExpenseVisor," said Fred Germuth, president and founder of PayService.Com. "With ExpenseVisor's functionality, intuitive interface and delivery model, ChemPoint has quickly and easily replaced their proprietary system and recognized rapid ROI."

"ExpenseVisor delivers where other software has fallen short: providing the functionality promised, that can be accessed by our employees anywhere anytime via the Web, at a price too attractive to ignore," said Chris Jardine, director of Finance for ChemPoint. "As our T&E expense management has evolved, PayService has been extremely responsive in leveraging the flexibility of ExpenseVisor to meet our needs."

PayService.Com's Web-based, highly customizable ExpenseVisor empowers employees and administrators to enter, submit, approve and pay expenses from anywhere, anytime. PayService.Com's ASP delivery model minimalizes the burden on your IT department and enables rapid deployment.
